

NIGHT BLOOMING JASMINE

*What do you imagine when you hear/sing Night Blooming Jasmine?
by members of the Appleton WI Girls Choir
Spring 2021*

Faith

A full moon, a lake reflecting the moon, soft grass, and beautiful glistening flowers.

Sofia

A starry night sky, wind blowing in your face, and such calming noises, like you can hear water running down a stream, and it's so relaxing

Marisa

Even when things are difficult there is hope

Sadie

A flower blooming at night in the woods.

Eleanor

A sweet-smelling jasmine flower, blooming in the light of the full moon

Ella

A flower in the night

Miriam

When I think of night blooming jasmine, I think of how people can work together and understand that dark is beautiful, and the good guys aren't always the light; dark is awesome too! And some people have not been treating people with dark skin very nicely, and they don't understand that dark is great too, and light is not the only good guys. So people who have been treated badly walk with light and know that they are special.

Anna

A path at night leading to a river surrounded by a forest.

Aurora

Night Blooming jasmine makes me feel sleepy then at the end, it feels like I woke up suddenly.

Magali

I picture a dark forest and a path. And when I walk through it there are these flowers that light up the way and I find myself by a calm pond and see the reflection of the moon and me in the water.

Elizabeth

Night blooming jasmine makes me feel like I am looking up at a starry sky with an aurora borealis and seeing the milky way over a pine tree forest.

Moe

Light and dark working together

Claire

When I sing night blooming jasmine I feel like nobody is different and that you need to keep going in hard times you need to get back up and be brave.

Fiona

People changing perceptions

Erin

Stars in the night sky
